

I am contacting you in opposition to the proposed legislation allowing cell phone use during commercial flights. The following concerns are shared by many other air travelers. Please consider them as this legislation is further discussed in committee.

Thank you.

- There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments.
- Cell phone use would enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.
- The NPRM would leave it up to flight attendants to police the use of cell phones onboard the aircraft compromising our ability to maintain a safe, secure cabin environment and to conduct emergency evacuations.
- It would make an already tense cabin environment even more stressful.
